

Camouflage Man

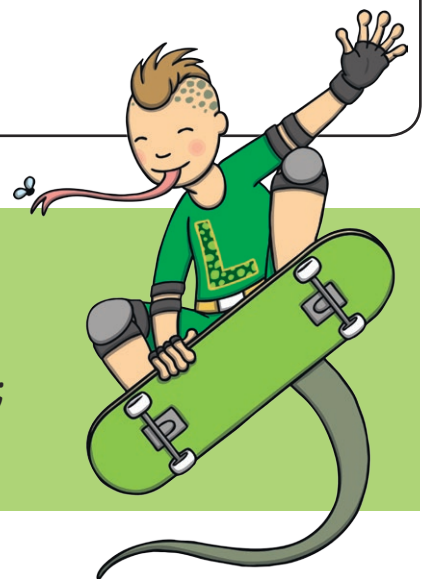

Amazing Fact

Some lizards can change colour to camouflage themselves. An experiment found that when they are blindfolded, they can still match their skin to their surroundings, even though they can't see with their eyes.

Imagine there was a superhero called Camouflage Man!

Just think how handy it would be if you could camouflage yourself in different surroundings.

Design a camouflaged superhero in a particular setting or scene. Make sure he can be seen a little bit, so we know he is there.

You could try to find out:

- how the lizards achieve this;
- which species is the most effective colour changer;
- what can cause human skin to change colour.